MILITARY OVERTHROWS EBERT RULE IN BERLIN; REVOLT SPREADS Hindenburg May Be New Imperial President

PARIS, March 13.—(Havas)—A proclamation issued in Berlin today declares that the government of the empire has ceased to exist, and that the power of the state has passed into the hands of General Director Von Kapp, who becomes chancellor, and has appointed General Von Lüttwitz, commander in chief of the military forces, Berlin dispatches state. The proclamation declares the national assembly dissolved. It is announced that a new government is being formed. The Socialist parties have declared a general strike, the dispatches add.

The issuance of the proclamation followed the occupation of the Wilhelmstrasse, where the government buildings are situated, by troops who had returned from the Baltic and had been in barracks at Doeberitz, in the suburbs. The troops entered Berlin this morning, it is stated.

COLOGNE, March 13.—The new government established in Berlin is not intended to promote the aims of the monarchists or the reactionaries, it is declared in a dispatch to the Cologne Gazette from Berlin today. The message reads: "The new government under Chancellor Kapp says in its program to be made public that it will honorably fulfill the treaty of Versailles. It gives emphatic assurances that the government has no reactionist or monarchial aims."

BERLIN, March 13.—It is reported that it is intended to proclaim Field Marshal Von Hindenburg "imperial president."

PARIS, March 13.—(Havas)—The Ebert government in Germany has established its seat in Dresden, the capital of Saxony, according to advices this afternoon.

NEW IMPERIAL MINISTRY

BERLIN, March 13.—(Noon)—A new imperial ministry has been formed. It is provisionally composed as follows:
Imperial Chancellor, Dr. Kapp.
Minister of defense, General Baron Von Lüttwitz.
Minister of finance, The Oberkassier Bank.
Minister of public worship, Dr. Traub.
The other ministers have not as yet been appointed.

PRESIDENT EBERT LEAVES

BERLIN, March 13.—(By the Associated Press)—(6:00 a. m.)—Berlin has been threatened during the night by the immediate danger of a violent revolution. It became known at midnight that revolutionary bodies of troops had begun to move on Berlin from Doeberitz.
Generals Von Odenhausen and Von Ovan, and Lieutenant Colonel Wetzel went to meet these troops and warn them of the consequences of their action. Troops from the Baltic have joined in the revolt.
The troops which were concentrated at Doeberitz, including the Eberhard and Loewenfeld naval brigades, nevertheless, continued their advance on Berlin at five o'clock this morning were at the Tiergarten railway station. It was reported during the morning that a manifesto had been prepared and signed by President Ebert, Minister of Defense Noske and others commanding the workers to a general strike.
President Ebert and his wife left Berlin at 5 o'clock this morning.

American Ranch Owner Is Freed

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 13.—Mexican federal troops have brought about the release of Peter W. Summers, American ranch owner, who was kidnapped last week and held for ransom by rebels in the vicinity of Salina Cruz, Mexico.

FRANCE NOT TO REPLY TO WILSON CHARGES

PARIS, March 13.—The French government has not and will not send any instructions to Ambassador Jusserand in Washington regarding President Wilson's charge of militarism against France, it was said at the foreign office this morning. A report received from the ambassador stated that on his own initiative he called upon Under Secretary of State Felt and told him of the surprise and emotion caused in France by the president's letter.

The ambassador added that he had made no representations.

REVOLUTION PROVES A PEACEFUL ONE

BERLIN, March 13.—The overthrow of the Ebert government was announced in a proclamation issued at 10 o'clock this morning after revolting troops from the suburbs had entered Berlin and occupied the Wilhelmstrasse. Up to that hour the movement had proved a peaceful one, no disorders developing.
The proclamation declared that the entire authority of the state has passed into the hands of General Provincial Director Kapp as imperial chancellor and premier of Prussia.
The proclamation issued over the signature of Imperial Chancellor Kapp says that the mandate of the national assembly to create a constitution and conclude peace, has expired and it declared the national assembly dissolved. It adds:
"As soon as internal order has been restored we shall return to constitutional conditions and prescribe new elections."

It was announced that General Baron Von Lüttwitz had been appointed commander in chief of the military by the chancellor and that a new government of order, freedom and justice was being formed. At 10 o'clock the city was still preserving for the moment its usual aspect. Carriages, taxicabs and street cars were in movement as though nothing had happened. There was no change in the appearance of Unter Den Linden except for the presence of a considerable body of troops at the Brandenburg gate, the Adlon Hotel and the corner of Unter Den Linden and the Wilhelmstrasse.

The proclamation appeared at this corner at ten o'clock in the morning. A mounted soldier, fully armed and helmeted, rode up and handed the proclamation to a small group of people. They looked around him while the document was read. The proclamation later was read on street corners in various parts of the city.
President Ebert, meanwhile, had left the city.

The president and his wife quit Berlin at 5 o'clock this morning.
The troops which made the descent upon Berlin were for the most part quartered in the suburbs of Doeberitz and included troops which had recently returned from the Baltic provinces. The threat of their movement developed at midnight. When it became known that they were advancing, the revolutionary army states, General Von Odenhausen and General von Lüttwitz, who had been in the Baltic provinces, had been ordered to return to Berlin.

The army also announced the national strike by the Socialist Democratic party (the majority Socialists), the dominant party which had supported the Ebert government and of call on Secretary Felt to correct the "disrespectable impression his assertions have made here."

POPULATION STATISTICS

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 13.—Population statistics for 1919 issued today by the census bureau included: Lancaster, Pennsylvania, 53,150, an increase of 5,023 or 12.5 percent over 1910.
Knoxville, Tennessee, 77,818, an increase of 41,172 or 11.12 percent over 1910.

TO START NEW PLANTS

LONDON.—Scottish distillers have definitely decided to start new plants for the production of power at Collieston, says the Motor. The second production aimed at is 30,000,000 gallons.

BERLIN, March 13.—According to reports reaching there this afternoon the revolutionary movement, under the direction of the extreme conservatives, has already spread far into the provinces, not only among the regular army forces, but among the public security guards.

LONDON, March 13.—Official advices reaching the Press Association are that the revolutionary troops have brought artillery into Berlin. They state also that the members of the Ebert government have proceeded to Dresden to set up their regime.

BERLIN, March 13.—The proclamation issued by the old regime, calling on the people for a general strike, declared that it is the only means against the return of William II.

FRANKFORT, GERMANY, March 13.—A general strike has been declared here. A great procession of workmen is parading the streets.

PARIS, March 13.—The opinion expressed in official circles at the moment is that the allied governments will take an attitude of aloofness and detachment toward the civil strife in Germany and permit the German people themselves to determine the form of their government. The armed disorders in Germany are looked upon as most unfortunate both for that country and the remainder of Europe at the time when reconstruction had been begun.

BERLIN, March 13.—(10:40 a. m.)—(By the Associated Press)—The members of the Ebert government are retaining their offices, although they have left the capital, according to the Lokal Anzeiger in a special edition just issued. The newspaper says the old government refused to comply with an ultimatum presented by General Eberhard, of the naval brigade, which expired at 7 o'clock this morning. The government officials leaving Berlin by motor car without resigning their posts.

BERLIN, March 13.—General Von Lüttwitz, commander of the first Reichswehr brigade, has been summarily removed from his post by Gustave Noske, minister of defense, and units of military organizations in Berlin are held in their barracks ready for instant action as the result of an alleged discovery of a reactionary plot here today.

Official bulletins declare the "plotters" had planned to move on Berlin and with the aid of the Doeberitz garrison overthrow the government. Among those said to be involved are Captain Pabst and Dr. Van Kapp, pan-German propagandist. Both were formerly identified with the brigade commanded by General Von Lüttwitz and were prominent in the fighting here during the early revolutionary period. Troops recently returned from the Baltic states are also said to have been implicated in the alleged conspiracy.

Direct inquiry in official quarters has failed to elicit any information beyond a statement that the government was warranted, in the light of the attitude of the pan-German press, to suspect a monarchist plot. An impression prevails tonight, therefore, that the government exaggerated the critical nature of the situation and took seriously indefinite rumors which have been current here for the past week. It is the general belief the effect of the Eberhard-Helfferich trial, the announced presidential candidacy of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, the attack on all official officers by Prince Axelrod Albrecht at the Adlon Hotel and other incidents contributed to make the cabinet nervous over the situation.

BREAKS ICE JAM

PORT DEPOSIT, Md., Mar. 12.—The tremendous jam in the Susquehanna river extending from this morning to the river's mouth, finally succumbed today to the heavy bombardment from airplanes of the last three days, combined with the influence of mild weather, and passed out into Chesapeake Bay.

It is believed that the dangerous flood menace to this town has been removed and the citizens are planning a banquet to the army aviators in appreciation of their work.

BOY DE LANKHEO.—It is announced that Brazil will ask the Allies for torpedoes boats of greater dimensions and armament than the seven former German torpedo boats of 250 tons recently captured by the Supreme Council at Paris.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS OCCUPIED

COPENHAGEN, March 13.—(12:45 p. m.)—Telephone messages received here from the German semi-official news agency in Berlin which has resumed its service, state that the most important public buildings in Berlin were occupied by the public security police this morning. The newspaper Vorwaerts and Freiheit have been suspended.

BERLIN, March 13.—(By the Associated Press)—The public security guard this morning occupied the offices of Vyssner and the semi-official news agency. The services to the provinces and abroad were provisionally suspended.

LONDON, March 13.—A proclamation was issued in Berlin this morning at 10 o'clock stating the German government had ceased to exist, according to a Reuters dispatch from the German capital received here. Revolting troops entered Berlin this morning and occupied Wilhelmstrasse, the dispatch declares. No acts of violence are reported.

PARIS, March 13.—(Havas)—A military pronunciamento has been issued at Berlin proclaiming a new chancellor, according to advices received here.

Bulletins

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 13.—Approval of a proposal that if "consistent with the general interests of the United States," American steamship companies take over the trade routes and business of the Hamburg-American line, was voted today by the senate commerce committee, 10 to 4.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 13.—"In the interest of economy," the three naval construction programs recommended by Secretary Daniels depending on disposition of the peace treaty were disapproved today by a house naval sub-committee.

An appropriation of $72,000,000 for continuing the unfinished 1916 program was decided upon by the sub-committee as the only ship construction funds to be provided for the next fiscal year.

PARIS, March 13.—The League of Nations' council today adopted a resolution for the appointment of a commission of ten members for the investigation of conditions in Russia.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 13.—In an effort to reunite the Republican senate forces Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, the party leader, today introduced an amendment to the substitute Article X reservation of freed yesterday.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 13.—Introduction in the senate of a modified reservation to Article X of the League of Nations covenant caused speculation today as to whether President Wilson would inform Democratic leaders of his attitude toward the new qualification. In the past he has usually taken steps to let his party know whether pending reservations to the treaty were acceptable to him.

The modified reservation did not seek to clarify the befuddled situation. Instead it caused postponement of the expected vote on Article X, which probably will not come until Monday or Tuesday.

Irreconcilable opponents of the treaty condemned the sub-qualification as a "Republican capitulation" to the White House, while the moderate reservationists of the party followed the leadership of Senator Lodge, who introduced it. Democrats generally had nothing to say about it, except Senator Hitchcock, who declined to accept it.

Despite defections from the Republican ranks because of the changes in the reservation, the Republican leadership said they could hold 30 votes for it, leaving 34 votes for the Democrats to deliver if the treaty is to be ratified with the substitute attached. Efforts to amend the substitute probably will be made, in which case all existing line-ups may be overturned.

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 13.—David Warfield, the actor, was struck by an automobile truck here today. His left leg was broken and his face lacerated. The extremes in local temperature today were: High 43, low 23.

BILLY-BUT-TH

Just about the time a feller is figurin' on takin' off his beaver, along comes a cold snap and makes him mighty glad he's got 'em on. Here's for tomorrow:
OHHO—Fair tonight; Sunday fair and warmer.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 13.—Weather predictions for the week beginning Monday are:
Ohio Valley and Tennessee, Region of Great Lakes—Severe prospect of rain Tuesday and Wednesday, otherwise generally fair. Nearly normal temperatures.

The extremes in local temperature today were: High 43, low 23.

The Markets

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Mar. 13—Stocks were firm to strong during the greater part of today's short session, the market disregarding advices from abroad reporting the overthrow of the German government. Bulls were prominent in the advance, many of these issues, under lead of leading Missouri Pacific, Texas Company and Baltimore and Ohio, mounting to highest prices of the week. Among industrials Crucible Steel was the outstanding feature, advancing fifteen points on heavy accumulation. Other steels made substantial gains and motors and related specialties also strengthened after early irregularity with equipments and shipplings. Moderate reactions accompanied the profit-taking in the final dealings. The closing was strong. Sales approximated 500,000 shares.

Visitors Piled Up Large Score Against Local Girls

A-land high school girls demonstrated to perfection their ability as basketball players last night in the local gym when they won from the local high school girls five by the lopsided score of 30 to 3, the visitors taking the game as easy as if they would be taking candy from babies. The visitors presented a well coached and well drilled team and at times when they got their team work machinery into action, the locals were completely lost.

In the first half P. H. S. made the first point a foul goal but this was the only score they made the rest of this period. The Ashland quintet got down to work as soon as the first point was marked up and from then on scored one basket after another the field goals being mixed occasionally with a foul goal.

The first half ended 20 to 1 in favor of Ashland, P. H. S. made their only field basket in the second half when Doll scored bringing the local's score up to 3. P. H. S. held better in the second half Ashland only scoring 13 points.

Woods right forward for Ashland was easily the star of the game. Out of the 30 points scored she registered 24 of them, her side partner Russell at left forward making the other six.

P. H. S. players had ten fouls called against them while Ashland played a cleaner game and had only two called on them.

The lineups:

RINGSIDE COLISEUM, TOLEDO, O., March 13.—Jimmy Wilde, of England, recognized flyweight boxing champion of the world, proved his right to the title last night by decisively outpointing Frankie Mason, of Fort Wayne, Ind., the American claimant of the title. Wilde was the aggressor throughout the fight with the exception of the fifth round when Mason braved him	and put the Englishman on the defensive. Two of the rounds were even, the fourth and tenth. The ring, which was twenty-one feet square, gave the little American plenty of room to jump away from the pressing Britisher. Mason started to blow from the mouth early in the battle, but he wore a smile of confidence while the little Briton, from the time he entered the	ring, seemed set and determined. Time after time, Mason, when urged on by his enthusiasts, attempted to break through the Britisher's guard, but the plucky little Briton dodged, feinted, shifted and retaliated with a right and left, chasing the American about the ring. After the fight Referee J. M. Smith declared never in his life had he seen a young fellow or any fighter who was so willing to carry on or mix matters as Wilde.

Carl Rehder's live, known as "Rehder's Rangers," will roll the first of an inter-city series with the Ashland, Ky., team at the Crystal Palace arena this (Saturday) evening, the contest to start at 7:30 o'clock. The Rangers will present a very strong line up and anticipate no trouble in taking care of the visiting brethren. The affairs at the Crystal Palace have been put in fine condition for the contest and spectators who will be welcomed from all parts of the city are assured of a sterling battle. The visitors are a strong bunch and are willing to lay a few fireworks on their ability to run away with the Rangers. The local side will play a return engagement at Ashland within a few days. Come out and cheer for the locals—give them encouragement and show the visitors Portland is one hundred per cent behind them! One hundred per cent behind! One team rolling under her colors.

NEW YORK, March 12.—Hal Chase, former first baseman for the Reds and Giants, may throw away his mitt and become Frank Merriwell, the young college hero, whose career has enthralled thousands of youths. A motion picture concern here announces that what appears to be Frank in more than 100 stories planned for the Merriwell books.

William Hogan of New York city has sued the Borden Condensed Milk Co. for $100,000, alleging that as a consequence of one of the milk company's horses having bitten his wife a few months before his baby Jeanette was born, the child came into world physically deformed. (BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS)

The names associated with the new revolutionary movement in Germany many indicate its reactionary character. It appears that Germany is in the throes of the frequently predicted counter-revolutionary, monarchist struggle.

Dr. Von Kapp, reported as having assumed the chancellorship, probably Dr. Wolfgang Kapp, a former conservative member of the Reichstag and general director of the German Agricultural Society. He was one of the deputies who early in 1918 urged the government to speed up the building. He became president of the Fatherland party, the notorious German organization, which urged that Germany carry on the war to bitter end. After the abdication of Emperor William and the signing of the armistice, Dr. Kapp was one of the men for whose arrest the Independent Socialists clamored on the ground that he and his associates had been responsible for the continuation of the war and the hindering of peace.

Major General Baron Von Lucius, who, according to the dispatch, has been named commander in chief, was military governor of Belgium the early days of the war. He later was a commander on the Verdun front. When the German treaty came up for action by the government last July, he was one of the leaders of the military party prominent in opposition to the peace terms. He has an American wife, who was a Miss Gray, of Canada. He always has been classed as thoroughly Prussian.

Coach Hess Resigns As Athletic Director Of Local High School

The resignation of Robert C. Hess, as director of athletics of Portsmouth High School, to be effective at once, came as a startling surprise to the members of the Board of Education in session last night.

After considerable discussion the matter was referred to Superintendent Apple and Principal Stanley, of the High School, and an investigation will probably be started at once.

Mr. Hess sets forth as his reasons for taking this action, that a large number of the students of P. H. S. are engaged in contact with his methods of coaching as regards to intensive training, and alleges that members of the basketball teams today started a rebellion against playing in the Myrtle game previously scheduled for March 24.

Coach Hess has been in charge of athletics in the local High School since 1915, and his action came as a complete surprise to every one connected with the school.

Here is Coach Hess' resignation, as read by Clerk Hazelbeck at the meeting last night:

The Board of Education,
Portsmouth City Schools,
Portsmouth, Ohio.

Conclusion: A large number of the students of the High School are not in accord with my methods of coaching and my ideas in regards to intense and rigid training rules. Instances of this kind have turned up a number of times: the last being today, when members of the team started a rebellion against playing a basketball game which would fall on the same night as a party.

I feel that if athletics are to be conducted at all they should be conducted right as regards training, etc. Hence I am of the opinion that the students of the High School would rather conduct athletics according to their own standards than according to mine, and I hereby tender my resignation from that part of my duties that involves athletic coaching, to go into effect immediately.

Very respectfully,
ROBERT C. KESS.

Looking from the Colonnade over the seats to the stage of the great amphitheater at Arlington, Va.

After five years of work this beautiful memorial, built of American marble at a cost of $525,000, is practically completed. It crowns the eastern shore of the Potomac river, looks across upon the Lincoln memorial and marks the last of the classic white structures that adorn the mall.

MIAMI, Fla., Mar. 13.—This training down south is good for some players, I guess," says Slim Salter, "but a couple of good workouts back home where we have the right kind of a club house to go into as soon as one gets the old perspiration flowing freely do me more good than the whole southern trip. I never get right until I sweat good at home in the climate in which I have to do my pitching."

Plans To Fool Wiseacres

HUNTINGTON, W. VA., March 13.—The Red and Blue of Huntington High last night brought their home season of basketball to a successful close with a victory over the Front Street Natters.

The climax of the 1919-1920 season saw Coach Harry Wilson's squad hanging up a remarkable total of 61 points, which is the high mark of the year, while the best visitors could do was 5 points.

He gave poetry to human life and lifted it from sordid ways to barefacedness and enthusiasm and the people rose to their leader. His first operas were introduced with difficulty, while all beginners experience; but the Italian war, long treated to musical composition, and with inherited taste from old, accepted Verdi as a matter. When once known he was then after loved.—James D. Freeman.

MIAMI, Fla., Mar. 12.—Movies of the 1918 world series are on display here and the Reds are the best customers of the payhouse showing them. Greasy Neale happened to be sitting beside a bur when the world series film started the other night. But he began talking Neale all about the Reds, pointed out various players to him and gave him their history of childhood, even him," said Greasy to baseball until he began making mistakes. Then I corrected him. He didn't tell him how I came to know he was wrong."

OVERTHROW BERLIN GOVERNMENT

Nation Appears In Throes Of Counter Revolutionary Monarchist Struggle

PARIS, March 13.—(Havas)—A proclamation issued in Berlin today declares that the government of the empire has ceased to exist, and that the power of the state has passed into the hands of General Director Von Kapp, who becomes chancellor, and has appointed General Von Luetwitz, commander in chief of the military forces, Berlin dispatches state. The proclamation declares the national assembly dissolved. It is announced that a new government is being formed. The Socialist parties have declared a general strike, the dispatches add.

The issuance of the proclamation followed the occupation of the Wilhelmstrasse, where the government buildings are situated, by troops who had returned from the Baltic and had been in barracks at Doeberitz, in the suburbs. The troops entered Berlin this morning, it is stated.

LONDON, March 13.—A proclamation was issued in Berlin this morning at 10 o'clock stating the German government had ceased to exist, according to a Reuters dispatch from the German capital received here.

Revolutionary troops entered Berlin this morning and occupied Wilhelmstrasse, the dispatch declares. No acts of violence are reported.

The troops concentrated at Doeberitz which advanced on Berlin included the Ehrhard and Eckenfeldt naval brigades. As early as 5 o'clock this morning they had reached the Tiergarten railway station, the dispatch says.

PARIS, March 13.—(Havas)—A military proclamation has been issued at Berlin proclaiming a new chancellor, according to advices received here.

BERLIN, March 12.—General Von Luetwitz, commander of the first Reichswehr brigade, has been summarily removed from his post by Gustave Noske, minister of defense, and units of military organizations in Berlin are held in their barracks ready for instant action as the result of an alleged discovery of a reactionary plot here today.

Official bulletins declare the "plotters" had planned to move on Berlin and with the aid of the Doeberitz garrison overthrow the government. Among those said to be involved are Captain Pabst and Dr. Van Kapp, pan-German propagandist. Both were formerly identified with the brigade commanded by General Von Luetwitz and were prominent in the fighting here during the early revolutionary period. Troops recently returned from the Baltic states are also said to have been implicated in the alleged conspiracy.

Direct inquiry in official quarters has failed to elicit any information beyond a statement that the government was warranted, in the light of the attitude of the pan-German press, to suspect a monarchist plot. An impression prevails tonight, therefore, that the government exaggerated the critical nature of the situation and took seriously indefinite rumors which have been current here for the past week. It is the general belief the effect of the Erzberger-Helfferich trial, the announced presidential candidacy of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, the attack on allied officers by Prince Joachim Albrecht at the Hotel Adlon and other incidents contributed to make the cabinet nervous over the situation.

The names associated with the new revolutionary movement in Germany indicate its reactionary character. It appears that Germany is in the throes of the frequently predicted counter revolutionary, monarchist struggle.

Dr. Von Kapp, reported as having assumed the chancellorship, is probably Dr. Wolfgang Kapp, a former conservative member of the Reichstag and general director of the German Agricultural Society. He was one of the deputies who early in 1918 urged the government to speed up U-boat building. He became president of the Fatherland party, the notorious pan-German organization, which urged that Germany carry on the war to the bitter end. After the abdication of Emperor William and the signing of the armistice, Dr. Kapp was one of the men for whose arrest the independent Socialists clamored on the ground that he and his associates had been responsible for the continuation of the war and the hindering of peace.

Major General Baron Von Luetwitz, who, according to the dispatches, has been named commander in chief, was military governor of Belgium in the early days of the war. He later was a commander on the Verdun front. When the German treaty came up for action by the government last June, he was one of the leaders of the military party prominent in opposition to the peace terms. He has an American wife, who was a Miss Cary, of Cleveland. He always has been classed as thoroughly Prussian.

THESE TWINS HELP TRAP DETECTIVES

Miss Margaret Ruane (above) and her sister Gertrude.

The Misses Margaret and Gertrude Ruane, twin sisters, are credited with having aided in the investigation that led to the trapping of private detectives employed by the family of Grover Cleveland Bergdall, millionaire draft dodger. Gertrude was a clerk of the draft board which handled Bergdall's case. A Bergdall detective is alleged to have tried to influence the girl in behalf of Bergdall, but she revealed his purpose and government operatives were set on his trail.

TWO REPORTS BEFORE WILSON ON SETTLEMENT OF MINERS' DISPUTE

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 13.—The controversy in the bituminous coal industry—which has engaged the attention of the government almost constantly since the break between employer and employee in the national strike last fall—today is awaiting the personal decision of President Wilson. The commission appointed by him to suggest a settlement having split in its award, two proposals which have originated from it are before him for consideration.

The majority report, signed by Henry M. Robinson and Kenneth P. Keane, representatives of the public and mine operators, respectively, suggests an increase in pay of 25 percent over the scales of 1919, while the minority, signed by John P. White, for the industry—which has engaged the attention of the government almost constantly since the break between employer and employee in the national strike last fall—today is awaiting the personal decision of President Wilson. The commission appointed by him to suggest a settlement having split in its award, two proposals which have originated from it are before him for consideration.

MODIFIED RESERVATION BEFUDDLES SITUATION

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 13.—Introduction in the senate of a modified reservation to Article X of the League of Nations covenant caused speculation today as to whether President Wilson would inform Democratic leaders of his attitude toward the new qualification. In the past he has usually taken steps to let his party know whether pending reservations to the treaty were acceptable to him.

The modified reservation did not seek to clarify the befuddled situation. Instead it caused postponement of the expected vote on Article X, which probably will not come until Monday or Tuesday.

Irreconcilable opponents of the treaty condemned the sub-qualification as a "Republican capitulation," to the White House, while the mills reservationists of the party followed the leadership of Senator Lodge, who introduced it. Democrats generally had nothing to say about it, except to urge its amendment. The reservation probably will be made, in which case all existing live-ups may be overturned.

Censor Held Back News Until Good Arrived

LONDON.—Winston Churchill, who was First Lord of the Admiralty at the time of the Dardanelles expedition, used to act as censor of the official communications given out concerning that ill-fated campaign, says a New York Times correspondent.

Admiral Sir Douglas Haig, Sir Douglas Haig, who has written his experiences in a book entitled "Instructions of the Naval Censor." One day Mr. Churchill said to the Admiral, "For this business, I am chief censor, not you."

"Mr. Churchill had a knack for framing communications," the Admiral states. "He was almost a bit of a gambler, that is, he would bet on to a bit of bad news for a time on the chance of getting a bit of good news to publish as an offset, and I must say that it did not infrequently come off."

Admiral Browning used to visit the First Lord in his bedroom at 9:15 a.m., and show him the cables and radios that had been received during the night. Mr. Churchill, he says, "perched up in a huge bed with the whole of the counterpane littered with despatch boxes, red and all colors, and Mr. Churchill himself with an enormous cigar in his mouth; a glass of warm water in the table by his side."

WILL LAUNCH LAST WAR-TIME SHIP IN JUNE

PHILADELPHIA.—The world's greatest shipyard at Hog Island, built to overcome the ravages of the German submarine and help win the war for the Allies, will launch its last war-time ship in June and turn it over to the government in September. When the last of the fabricated ships of the war-time contract leaves the vast plant on the Delaware, Hog Island will have turned over to the government 122 vessels, a record of more than one ship a week since the first boat was sent overseas in August, 1918.

There have been several double launchings in one day, and on Memorial Day last year five ships were launched in a little more than an hour, establishing a world's record.

When Hog Island was going at top speed during the war with 50 ways occupied, approximately 25,000 men were employed. This force has been reduced to about 22,000 and after the last ship is launched in June the force will be reduced to 25 percent of this number. These men will complete and equip the ships still left to be turned over to the government.

What is to become of Hog Island is the great problem confronting the owners of the yard. Recently the United States Shipping Board took over the title to the ground. Philadelphia has been urged to take over the yard and convert it either as a shipbuilding plant or convert it into a great terminal. Efforts to interest the state have also been made, but the amount of money required to buy the great plant has been a stumbling block.

OPENING STOCKS

NEW YORK, March 13.—Price movements at the outset of today's stock market were extremely irregular as indicated by a four point decline for General Motors and an advance of the same extent for Chandler Motors.

Trails were firm to strong but the tendency among industrialists in the steel and equipment groups was confusion. Sharp advances of call money among yesterday's later dealings also probably accounted in large part for the uncertain tone of today's early dealing. The market hardened within the first hour, leading leading the rails to new high levels of the week.

BREAKS ICE JAM

PORT DEPOSIT, Md., Mar. 13.—The tremendous ice jam in the Susquehanna river extending from this town to Harre de Grace at the river's mouth, finally succumbed today to the heavy bombardment from airplanes of the last three days, combined with the influence of mild weather, and passed out into Chesapeake Bay.

It is believed that the dangerous flood menace to this town has been removed and the citizens are planning a banquet to the army aviators in appreciation of their work.

INTERESTING—IF TRUE

A dispatch from Chillicothe to the Columbus Citizen, which comes under the head of "Important, If True," reads this way:

CHILICOTHE, O., March 9.—Chillicothe councilmen know today that it doesn't pay to copy.

A daylight saving ordinance had been given its third reading and was ready for passage last night when B. C. Poston, manufacturer, called council's attention to the fact that instead of saving an hour of daylight they were losing it by passage of the ordinance.

The ordinance provided that on April 25 at 2 a. m. Chillicothe clocks would be turned back to 1 and on Oct. 3 at 2 a. m. they would be turned up to 3 a. m.

Council's excuse was that it had copied its legislation verbatim from that passed by Portsmouth City Council, two weeks ago.

The error was corrected and the ordinance passed.

This, no doubt, excited great glee in the breasts of those Chillicothe citizens who like themselves with envy every time they think of the marvelous growth and prosperity of Portsmouth, and it is fine something to say for that city. Jealous feeling. The only thing about it is that it is not true. The Portsmouth Daylight Saving Ordinance was correctly drawn and it is all right. If the "wise guys" and the Chillicothe councilmen have any doubts about it, let them cease quarreling among themselves long enough to come down and make an examination. We will undertake to see that they are chaperoned into and out of town so they will be in no danger of getting run over at street intersections or unduly jostled about by the crowds on the sidewalks of this lively city.

It turns out that Mayor Harry Davis, of Cleveland, has not resigned after all. He just said he intended to resign after awhile, when he put through a program in Cleveland and then devote himself entirely to the job of running for the nomination for governor on the Republican ticket. But suppose that Harry will find out by and by that it is a heap better to be drawing a salary as a real mayor than it is to be rainbow chasing a nomination and will discover a great and pressing call to remain right where he is.

We are beginning to feel a bit nervous at the aptitude displayed by our Miss Dolly Wise in finding soul mates for various sky and retiring bachelors for she might take in her head after awhile to rope one of the yearning ones and set up a fireside of her own, and then we would be shy one perfectly good and capable editor of a most readable column.

We suggested, in our most innocent way, to a very charming lady of our acquaintance that it was real nice to have a real tea room in town and we supposed it would be the proper thing to encourage all of the charming young ladies who would of course be on hand to serve tea and wafers by dropping in several times a day for a cup and a chat, but after due deliberation upon the reception of the remark we guess we haven't any more chance to accomplish our heart's desire than Jiggs has of getting down to Dinty Moore's on Saturday night.

Oliver Cromwell and his famous remark "Paint me as I am" are due for a rude jolt to the rear when candidates face the camera in the good and glorious new days when the ladies will pass upon the pictures of the candidates for places at the public trough.

Both Mr. Wilson and Mr. Lodge being historians of note, we feel quite sure that future generations will be fully informed as to the million points upon which these eminent gentlemen differed.

Our most prominent bachelor when asked what he thought about Youngstown taking bachelors and the possibility of the idea spreading over the state like flu or the itch, remarked in his calm and judicial way that there were worse things than taxes. We did not ask for further definiteness.

The man who stands on the First National Bank corner every day in the year, Sundays and holidays included, says that after twelve days of experience with the winds that blow in March, he wonders why it is that the spindliest creatures always wear the shortest skirts.

One of our friends has written to Mr. Roper, over at Washington wanting to know if he can class his campaign contributions as charity and we can see the Hon. Daniel writing back that "it oughter be but aint."

Mrs. Gelatine Travers has moved around the corner to her mother's until Mr. Travers finishes his income tax return.—Kansas City Star.

California has three candidates for president. Shucks, some of the Ohio counties have more than that already, and lots of the Buckeye Republicans are holding back because they can't decide whether to run for president or constable.—Houston Post.

Nothing, we guess, is offered on easier terms than a vacuum cleaner unless it be a favorite son candidate.—Grand Rapids Press.

More money is won by making mental bets than through any other form of gambling.—Toledo Blade.

It seems that some of the leading newspapers are about to succeed in impressing Senator Laury Sherman with the fact that it is not Henry Ford who is on trial in a Michigan court for buying a senatorship.—New Orleans States.

If the class between 41 and 46 had really been called that time it was scared to death or even farther for fear it would be we imagine the sentiment against anythingavoring in the slightest degree of militarism in this country would be positively overwhelming among our voters of mature judgment.—Ohio State Journal.

The Diary of an Engaged Girl

THE FIRST KISS IN THE CLOUDS: She a sister would, and asked him with a sweet smile, only Lindsey late me.

Not Brisk. He put pushed me off and suggested that engaged girls did not usually act in that manner, or something to that effect. Brisk could no more be harsh with me, or any girl, than he could fly, and after a little while he came round all right and laughed as loud as any of us, admitted my work and told me that I would make the very finest little wife ever. I felt choky again, of course. In fact, I firmly came to the conclusion that I was marrying too young and had not given myself proper time to make up my mind about the man! What I wanted to really do was to play around and study my art for several years to come. Go to Paris, and above all, be free, free as air, and happy.

I dreamed of a studio somewhere in the Latin quarter, with fame just around the corner, and eventually an artist husband, who would understand my innermost soul. Jack was far too simple and matter of fact for one such as I—Jack was—Jack was—Somehow or other I could not clearly formulate just what Jack was. He was red-checked and healthy, and hugged me very hard, and smelled sort of masculine and ordered about a wee bit, in a curious way.

Well, after we had put away our pencils we sat around and chatted, and drank strong coffee, and felt at peace with the whole world. It was a dark when I retired, with a start, that I had an appointment with The Man in a short hour from then.

How I flew into his hat and coat and out of that studio into engaged girl's world. Brisk tore along behind me for he was going my way. And horror of horrors! As we came down the studio steps, arm in arm, pally as you please, and giggling, who should pass by with head averted and redder in the face than ever—Jack!

My heart stood still—really and truly. He was furious, would never understand nor forgive me, and there would be no need of the wedding dress—nor the pink "nighties"—nor anything. Poor Aunt Cecilia, all over again. Tears came to my eyes as I realized what I had lost. How silly of Jack to walk by without noticing us, and how ridiculous of Brisk to dare to take my arm, the arm that by all laws of the land belonged to Jack. I made some hurried excuse to Brisk and hurried after the retreating figure of my future husband. I would put my foot-prints in my pocket rather than my wedding dress in pawn, and beg him to forgive me. Yes, I would even renounce Brisk—lean—Ait, it died in rather than that now enormously at-tracted wedding. So I hurried and fully caught up with the outgoing tide. Timidly I pulled his sleeve, he had taken it hard—from all accounts, but I put my hands on his shoulder,

How we three girls did work those blessed three hours. It seemed but yesterday that I had left the Art League and I did some good work on that head. I made up my mind then and then that I would never, never sacrifice my career for any man and that as soon as the honeymoon was over I would tell Jack that I must go on with my work and fix up a studio at the very top of the house, come what may.

We quit work at about four o'clock and then, as if there had been no change in our scheme of existence, we walked Brisk. He went perfectly white, when he saw me, and I felt awfully sorry for the poor boy, because he had heard of my engagement, and had taken it hard—from all accounts, but I put my hands on his shoulder,

Billy Whiskers

FRANCES TREAD MONTGOMERY

As the crowd poured into the tent, Billy heard one little boy say to another, "Isn't this funny, the cat says he'll kill his prey with his two sharp pointed horns and then he looks the other one into his prey and carries it off."

"Is that what the cat says? Well, if that isn't the biggest lie I ever heard!" thought Billy. "I'll bet the ring master made that up, like the one about my being an astrologer. Oh, he is a dandy, he is! But when I come to think of it, I don't mind if they fool the people, if they are so easily gulled as that; and I guess I will help them carry it out by being funny, funny and kicking around when anyone looks into my cage."

After the people had all passed into the main tent, the wind began to blow a perfect hurricane and the rain came down in sheets while one of the thunder followed another in such quick succession that one would hardly have time to dry before another was upon it, rolling and booming like heavy pieces of artillery. The lightning was so vivid and bright that it made Billy wink at every flash.

Presently a fiercer, stronger volume of wind hit the big tent and it collapsed, burying all the people under it. While the snare gust swept on and picked up the tent Billy was sheltered in and carried it off, up-swinging cage after cage of animals as it flew up and reared over their heads.

Billy's cage was among those up-set, but before it went over the wind picked it up, carried it a few feet and then dropped it, smashing to the wooden side and setting Billy free. For once the old saying came true: "That it is an ill wind that blows nobody any good." With a swish of his stubby tail Billy was off down a side street, and as he ran he could hear above the peals of the thunder and the rushing of the wind, the lions roaring and the elephants trumpeting for fear amid the confusion and excitement of the collapsed tent—the circus that Billy had escaped from for good.

(You can't guess where the next story takes Billy.)

I wonder, after all, if Jack didn't see me with Brisk? He is very clever, you know; and very tactful.

NEW YORK, March 13.—The recent blizzard gave the last-places a chance to pillage the city. In most clubs taxicab drivers as a class are hard working and self-respecting. But in Manhattan they are a bearded crowd of ruffians, Fast Blue gun men and strong armed men.

In every bank robbery, hold up or murder the police cry has not been "Cheer up, fellows!" It is "Look for the last bundle!" A murder trial is going on now in which a taxi driver is the defendant. His cab met a pretty woman at a lonely Manhattan station. Five hours later the fare was found strangled in the cab, strangled and strangled of her jewels.

A Cuban merchant took a taxi cab the other day near the Waldorf. He was driven three blocks when a dapper looking fellow hailed the driver and asked to ride on the front seat. This is against the law in New York, but they drove into Central Park, stopped, beat up the Cuban and took his money.

During the blizzard they charged $5 for a $1 trip and if they were refused used a black-jack. Charlie Fells, the artist, had occasion to use a taxi to a private dinner the other night from his studio in Gramercy Park. The distance was short, the charge was $10. Fells signed a check and then used a bit of bluster and drove the driver himself to the hospital to get fixed up. Charlie is a temper and pulled the driver's ear.

One of the driver's diversions now is to ride off with whatever change is coming to the fare. The amount is usually $3 or $4 and not enough for the fare to spend time in court over. Wicked looking swarthy men who look as though they had drunk up their salaries are in the majority and one will always go to the aid of the other in a slugging, looking or what not.

Fallen women, skilled in black mail, are invariably the consorts of the taxi-haulers. Hundreds of these black-mail cases never reach the police because of the fear of notoriety.

"Oh, that's all right," said the employer. "I won't hold that against you. But wait a minute. What kind of a prison was it?"

"A model institution, sir. The warden, God bless you, was a father to me."

"Ah, in that case I'm afraid you won't do. This job is not suited to a 'holthouse plant.' What I want is a man with calloused hands and a corned-beef-and-cabbage appetite."

The Meaning Was There Three-year-old Albee was tormenting the cat when it scratched him, and he called it a bad name. His mother overheard what he had said, washed his mouth with soap and water.
